Temporary Fuel Cost Adjustment Notice

Foley Logistics

Effective Date: 17 March 2026

Foley Logistics is committed to providing reliable and efficient courier and transport services to our clients across Queensland.

Due to recent global supply disruptions and geopolitical tensions impacting fuel markets, transport operators across Australia have experienced significant increases in diesel and petrol pricing. These fluctuations have placed increasing pressure on transport and logistics providers whose operations rely heavily on fuel.

Current Fuel Price Movement

Date	Diesel Price (AUD/L)
5 March 2026	$2.059
17 March 2026	$2.789
Current Market Price	~$2.997

This represents a substantial increase in fuel costs within a short period of time, significantly impacting operational expenses across the transport industry.

Fuel remains one of the largest operating costs within logistics and transport. As prices continue to rise and approach $3.00 per litre, the impact on daily fleet operations becomes increasingly significant.

Temporary Fuel Adjustment

After careful consideration, Foley Logistics has implemented a temporary fuel cost adjustment across services.

To help offset the rapid increase in fuel costs, our service pricing has been adjusted by approximately 7.14%. This adjustment has intentionally been kept as minimal as possible while assisting with the current fuel cost volatility.

This decision has not been made lightly. Historically, Foley Logistics has absorbed increases in fuel costs internally as part of our operating expenses. However, the current volatility and continued upward movement in fuel prices has made this increasingly difficult to sustain without adjustment.

The temporary adjustment allows us to continue operating effectively while maintaining the reliable, safe and professional level of service our clients expect.

Ongoing Review

Foley Logistics is actively monitoring fuel pricing and fleet consumption data.

This adjustment will be reviewed regularly, and should fuel prices stabilise or decrease, we will reassess and adjust our pricing accordingly.

Our Commitment

We remain committed to:

- Maintaining reliable delivery and transport services
- Operating safe and compliant fleet operations
- Supporting our clients' operational timelines
- Maintaining transparency with our customers regarding operational changes

Thank You

We sincerely appreciate the continued support and understanding of our clients and partners during this period of fuel price volatility.
